

London School of Economics

Financial Markets Group

TAXATION SEMINARS

Michaelmas Term 2009

Please note change in venue to the New Academic Building

This year's programme of Taxation Seminars will, as usual, take place monthly on Monday evenings, in term times, from 6.30pm until 8.00pm. In a change from previous years, the seminars will now be held in NAB204, on the second floor of the New Academic Building (54 Lincoln's Inn Fields, corner Sardinia Street).

Wine, soft drinks, and sandwiches will be available from just before 6.30 and during the seminar.

October 26th    Are targeted anti-avoidance rules the answer to anti-avoidance?
David Goldberg QC (Gray's Inn Tax Chambers)

November 16th   Taxing foreign profits: Where to next?
Will Morris (GE and European Tax Policy Forum)

December 7th    tbc

January 18th    Changing places - the implications of the new VAT place of supply rules for the taxation of businesses
Greg Sinfield (Lovells)

February 8th    The Mirrlees Report: Key findings
Tim Besley (London School of Economics)

March 8th        tbc

April 26th      tbc

May 17th        tbc

The LSE Financial Markets Group grateful acknowledges financial support from STICERD and the LSE Department of Law for these seminars. For updated information on the seminars, please check <http://fmq.lse.ac.uk/events/> or <http://www.lse.ac.uk/collections/law/events/events-firstpage.htm?>

We look forward to seeing you. Please feel free to bring interested colleagues.

Jonathan Leape, Ian Roxan
Susan Ball, Ross Fraser, Judith Freedman, Malcolm Gammie and David Oliver